

Elliott Eisenbud, M.D.
Endocrinology

Elliott Eisenbud, M.D. is a board certified Endocrinology, Diabetes and Metabolism Physician in private practice since 1976. Dr. Eisenbud received his Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Wisconsin, Madison and his medical degree from New York University School of Medicine. He completed his internship and residency in Internal Medicine at Bellevue Hospital in New York. He also trained at the Naval Aerospace Medical Center in Pensacola, Florida and served as a senior medical officer and flight surgeon at the Naval Air Station in Dallas, Texas. Dr. Eisenbud served as a senior resident in Medicine at Stanford University Hospital and completed his Endocrinology and Metabolism fellowship at the University of California in Davis. He has participated as a principle investigator in multiple clinical trials and published in multiple medical Journals such as the New England Journal of Medicine and Journal of the American Medical Associations. Dr. Eisenbud has been a guest speaker in multiple forms and a consultant and on the lecture bureau of several companies. In addition to his private practice, Dr. Eisenbud provides specialty care telemedicine services to California's remote areas through his work with TeleMed2U.

Medical Education: New York University School of Medicine, New York, NY, 1968

Internship: New York University Bellevue Hospital, New York, NY, Straight Medicine, 1968-1969

Residency: New York University Bellevue Hospital, New York, NY, Medicine, 1969-1970
Stanford University, Stanford, CA, Medicine, Senior Resident 1973-1974

Fellowship: University of California, Davis, Davis, CA, Endocrinology, 1974-1976

Licensure: California G23760

Specialty Board(s): American Board of Internal Medicine
Internal Medicine, 1974
Endocrinology, Diabetes, and Metabolism, 1977